HOSPITALITY FOR SAINTS FROM INDIA FOR THE SUMMER TRAINING

For the Summer Training in July the church in Irvine will have the opportunity to host saints coming from India. We are expecting around 15 saints to come and we would like to provide hospitality for them all in the homes of the saints. Having these saints stay in our homes and participate in the local morning study sessions will provide more opportunity for blending and fellowship with them.

If you are able to provide hospitality for one or two of these saints please contact the brother in your district who is responsible for training registration.

May the Lord's Body be richly blessed by this "circulation" of fellowship in His Body through our providing hospitality to these saints.

MINISTRY PORTION

WARMING OTHERS

In 2 Corinthians 7 Paul was very emotional. In verse 13 he says that he "rejoiced more abundantly over the joy of Titus." J. N. Darby points out that it is not possible to render exactly in English the Greek idiom for "more abundantly." Paul was very human and emotional in his ministering of life. Paul was so emotional because his concern was so deep and intimate. Without this kind of concern, we could never be abundantly rejoicing in the way Paul was. Instead, we may be as cold as a freezer, altogether lacking in concern for the saints. Instead of warming up others, we make them even colder. Nothing can grow when it is in such a frozen condition. We need the weather of spring to come to thaw us out and warm up our life. Once again there is a need for a ministering life. Do you know what a ministering life is? It is a life that warms up others. Learn to warm others. This is to have an intimate concern for them.

Many have read 2 Corinthians 7 without touching the matter of Paul's intimate concern. If we do not have this kind of concern for others, we shall not be fruitful. If I would minister life to the saints, I must have a genuine concern for them, a concern that is emotional, deep, and intimate. I must be so concerned that, at times, I may appear to others to be foolish or beside myself.
